Subway

Beginning at the west of Washington Street there is an open cut near Plum Street beginning on private right-of-way and gradually dropping to the portal of the subway adjoining the Y. M. C. A. building on Halsey Street. It continues under Halsey Street, under and along Cedar Street and under and across Broad Street. At the southerly apex of Military Park, the incoming and outgoing tracks diverge and cross under Park Place into the terminal site, still at an elevation of about 21 feet below the curb line. The ingoing track then diverges into two unloading tracks on the southerly side, each 280 feet long. The loading tracks on the northerly side, after passing around the
